WILDERNESS DESERT RHINO CAMP

Wilderness Desert Rhino Camp is home to a pioneering partnership with Save the Rhino Trust Namibia and the famed 'Big 3' community conservancies in the area. The entirely reimagined camp reopens in July 2024 following a complete rebuild, which pays homage to its conservation purpose and its natural desert surroundings.

Please join us to experience the new Wilderness Desert Rhino Camp, along with two other iconic destinations in Namibia – Wilderness Little Kulala and Serra Cafema. Each one of these camps has a special story to tell, with awe-inspiring landscapes as the backdrop.

Your stay includes single accommodation, meals, activities, all road and air transfers within Namibia, as well as international flights.

WILDERNESS LITTLE KULALA

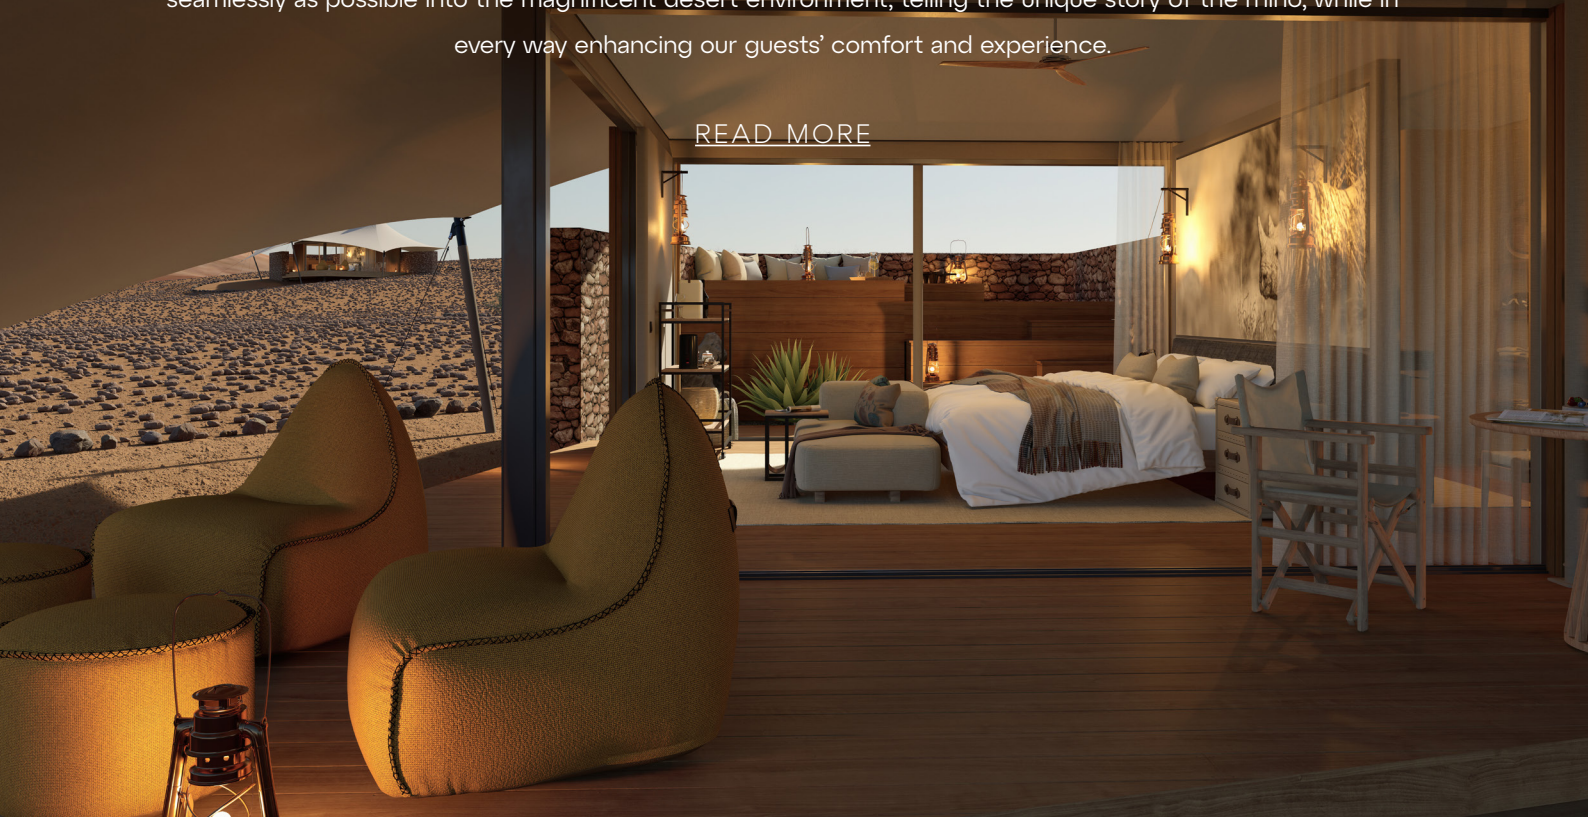

Situated in one of the best locations in the exclusive 30 000-hectare Kulala Wilderness Reserve, and the only lodge in a private reserve with early, direct access to Sossusvlei's magnificent red dunes. This camp celebrates the luxury of space, splendour and solitude of the Namib Desert, with the emphasis on offering innovative in- and out-of-camp activities.

WILDERNESS DESERT RHINO CAMP

Over the last two decades, this camp has remained a favourite among Wilderness guests due to its passionate staff who ensure a transformative guest experience, and the momentous conservation impact that it has had as a monitoring outpost for Save the Rhino Trust. The spectacular new design blends as seamlessly as possible into the magnificent desert environment, telling the unique story of the rhino, while in every way enhancing our guests' comfort and experience.

The image shows a luxurious outdoor lounge area at Wilderness Serra Cafema. In the foreground, a curved wooden deck is furnished with a long, dark blue sofa adorned with striped cushions. To the left, a building with a thatched roof and wooden pillars is visible, serving as a bar or dining area. The deck overlooks a calm river that reflects the sky and surrounding greenery. In the background, there are rolling hills and a clear blue sky. The overall atmosphere is serene and natural.

WILDERNESS SERRA CAFEMA

Located in one of the most remote regions in Southern Africa, on the banks of the Kunene River in the Hartmann's Valley, Serra Cafema offers life-changing journeys to this extraordinary desert location, ensuring the ongoing biodiversity protection of this pristine area and positively impacting the local community members of the Marienfluss Conservancy. Along with exploring the vast, wild space of the Kunene area, guests are able to gain insight into the ancient, yet evolving Himba culture, among the last semi-nomadic peoples on the planet.
