Wilderness Magashi Peninsula — Wellness Centre & Lap Pool

In line with our commitment to delivering exceptional guest experiences, we have decided not to include a wellness centre and lap pool in the main area of the camp. Instead, we will offer in-room wellness treatments.

This decision reflects the unique layout and philosophy of Magashi Peninsula, which is designed to offer a deeply private and immersive retreat. Each room, villa, and the main area are spaced 150–200 metres apart with no connecting walkways, allowing guests to enjoy uninterrupted views and solitude - safe off the ground, with reliable communications and staff always nearby.

The rooms are intentionally designed as comfortable retreats between activities. Guests can relax indoors, enjoy their private pool, or sleep under the stars on the top deck—all with 360° views and consistent wildlife presence. Instead of transporting guests in game drive vehicles for spa treatments - a practice we found impractical and disruptive, especially for standard suite guests.

Each room includes a separate lounge area that can be set up for individual or couples' massages, enabling guests to enjoy a treatment, freshen up, and relax—all within the comfort of their space. This approach not only enhances the sense of seclusion and personalisation but also aligns with how most guests will naturally use the camp. In fact, villa guests may rarely need to visit the main area, which is why we have designed it more as a shared hub, with a gym facility for those who wish to use it.
