CAMPS TO COMBINE WITH

Start your Namibia experience with a stay at Kulala Desert Lodge and explore the Kulala Wilderness Reserve, Sossuvlei, and Deadvlei.

Travel north to the Kunene River for a stay at Serra Cafema, one of the few areas in Namibia where guests can experience water activities during a boating experience, explore the dunes and connect with the local Himba community.

ABOUT THE AREA

Wild, rugged and remote. Wilderness Doro Nawas is found in the Doro Nawas Conservancy, which covers 412,000-hectares (1,018,074-acres) in the former district of Damaraland, which is now part of the Kunene Region. Set on the edge of the dry Huab River Valley, about 120 kilometres (75 miles) inland from the wild Atlantic Ocean, the camp has glorious views stretching in every direction. It's the perfect destination from which to venture out and explore geological phenomena, petroglyphs – prehistoric rock engravings – and San rock art at Twyfelfontein, Namibia's first World Heritage Site.

BEST TIME TO VISIT

December to March

- With good rains, a tapestry of grassland.
- Arid-adapted species are easily seen.
- Desert-adapted elephants move from the ephemeral river systems into the surrounding hilly regions.
- Late summer rain in higher-lying catchment areas can turn the sandy riverbeds into a brief torrent of life-giving water.

April to May

- Calm, comfortable days and pleasant evenings.
- Desert-adapted elephants start moving back to the ephemeral river systems.

June to November

- Game species such as desert-adapted elephants and lion, giraffes and kudu tend to concentrate along these river systems and natural springs.
- Towards November, moisture in the air from the coastal fog results in trees slowly turning green

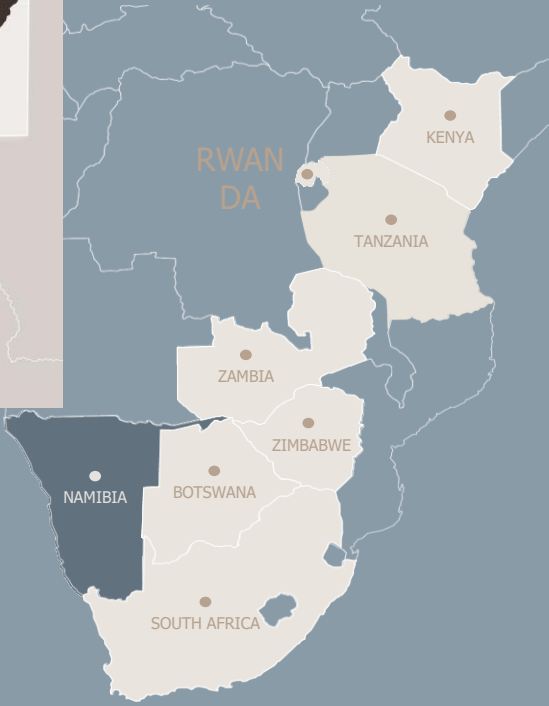

HIGHLIGHTS

- Wilderness Doro Nawas offers cultural immersion amid the Namib's striking desert scenery.
- Explore wind-sculpted cliffs, valleys, and dry riverbeds on nature drives and walks.
- Spot desert-adapted elephants, giraffes, zebras, and occasional black rhino and cheetah.
