April 2014

Jo'burg, Jozi, Joeys or Egoli...these are the endearing names we call this vibrant city perched in the heart of South Africa. There is an unrivalled energy in Johannesburg, where the world meets to indulge in the best of Africa. Fine restaurants, contemporary art exhibitions, noteworthy theatrical shows, and rich history dating as far back as the origins of man to the democracy of our nation; all this is a magnet for anyone wishing to indulge in the spirit of South Africa. The inner city restoration is drawing in young and trendy urbanites. Buzzing weekend food markets, modern African art and diverse characters showcase the bustling economic hub of the continent. It is a city filled with free-thinkers, intellectuals and artists from all over Africa and the world.

The Four Seasons Westcliff

The first Four Seasons resort in southern Africa with breath-taking views of suburban life is opening later this year...this unique resort will boast five different eating experiences from the culinary expertise of a Michelin star chef to a laid-back deli café. We anxiously await the grand opening of this Johannesburg gem.

The Saxon

Opulent and indulgent, this retreat spoils the senses from fine dining to contemporary art pieces dotting the lawns. The Saxon has earned a reputation as Johannesburg's most exclusive boutique hotel. Innovation is a core philosophy of The Saxon, and there are a number of different ways where they push the bar of excellence.

Fairlawns Boutique Hotel & Spa

An oasis with old-world charm, home to a holistic wellness spa, this is the perfect place to put up your feet and rejuvenate the spirit. The Fairlawns encompasses home-away-from-home. There is a strong Victorian influence, and the new tea lounge invites you to indulge in the classic experience of afternoon tea. The newly restored private villa is exclusive and perfect for families.
