Luke Dale-Roberts is bringing his award-winning restaurant The Pot Luck Club to Gauteng, as a pop-up restaurant in downtown Johannesburg. The venue for this hotly anticipated pop-up is the brand-new Marabi Club at Hallmark House in Johannesburg's on-trend Maboneng Precinct.

Experience the stunning and peaceful beauty of being on the first cableway ride up the mountain, an hour before anyone else, followed by a gentle three hour yoga class overlooking stunning views of Cape Town and Lions Head. End off with a coffee, muffins and inspiring power thought card session. What a way to start a beautiful Cape Town day! Your return cable car ticket allows you to ride down at your own leisure, so you can choose to enjoy some more time exploring the mountain, joining the free guided tour, or just relaxing and enjoying the view.

The new addition to Newmark is The Manor House in the V&A Waterfront which is annexed to the Queen Victoria Hotel.

The four suites enjoy uninterrupted views of Table Mountain, each with private patios or Juliet balconies. Guests can expect not only opulent in-room amenities by Molton Brown but also a unique butler service. There is access to a private dining room, for up to six people, as well as a range of facilities offered by Newmark's adjacent properties; the Victoria & Alfred Hotel, the Queen Victoria Hotel and the Dock House Boutique Hotel.
