

June 2014

One of the most memorable experiences when you travel on safari, aside from the fantastic wildlife sightings, is the quality of food at our camps. In keeping with the high culinary standards, we would like to recommend some establishments in South Africa which substantially focus on the gourmet food journey. Great attention to detail and international influences are complemented by strong cultural cooking styles that result in a gastronomical experience.

The Cellars-Hohenort

The Greenhouse is an exclusive restaurant which serves dinner only. Advanced pre-booking is essential. The Conservatory is the second restaurant in this beautiful estate and both eateries are aligned to the highest Relais & Chateaux culinary standards. Peter Tempelhoff is the executive chef and comes with a wealth of international experience.

Le Quartier Francais

Located in the heart of the culinary capital of South Africa, Franschhoek, this petite establishment is also aligned with Relais & Chateaux. Executive chef Margot Jansen consistently ensures that The Tasting room is one of the most sought after dining experiences in the country. The Tasting room is extremely popular and therefore bookings are essential. Bread & Wine is the sister restaurant and offers memorable lunches.

The Oyster Box

Looking over the majestic Indian Ocean this spectacular hotel is home to a fine dining restaurant, The Grill Room, as well as the Ocean Terrace which is renowned for its curry. Traditional High Tea is also served. Executive chef Kevin Joseph ensures creative and appealing menus that cater to unique tastes.

The Cape Grace

This iconic waterfront hotel is renowned for excellence in many areas especially in dining. Signal Restaurant consistently delivers creative and fresh menus. Bascule Bar offer light lunches and an enviable selection of whiskeys. It is certainly the place to see and be seen.

The One & Only

Reuben's is the fine dining restaurant run by celebrity chef Reuben Riffel. Food is described as a fusion of local flavours, and well sought after for both locals and international patrons alike. Nobu is the sister restaurant and offers an alternative Asian-inspired dining experience.

The Saxon Hotel, Villas & Spa

Set in a quiet suburb, this boutique hotel has earned its reputation as the most exclusive spot to visit. Five Hundred is the acclaimed signature restaurant which takes you on an exciting culinary adventure of texture and taste. Its sister restaurant Qunu is equally as impressive.
