

WINGS OVER NAMIBIA 2015

Covering some of the finest and most iconic areas of Namibia, Wings over Namibia is a flying safari that showcases the legendary dunes of Sossusvlei, the rugged topography of the Damaraland and Kaokoveld region with its desert-adapted elephant, as well as the wildlife of Etosha National Park and surrounds. The camps are set within private concessions and Wilderness Air transfers guests seamlessly between destinations.

Namibia is the epitome of open space: our concessions offer an incredible 30 230 hectares (74 700 acres) per guest! It is home to diverse and unique biomes like the Namib, the oldest desert in the world, the shimmering salt pans of Etosha and equally fascinating local cultures.

This journey retains the essence of Wilderness Safaris' origins, where we sought out prime wilderness areas throughout southern Africa and channelled our passion into guiding safaris that were educational and fun-filled. Continuing with this ethos, Wings over Namibia allows guests to experience the country's dramatic scenery along with its desert-adapted wildlife and clear, star-filled night skies. All along, there is the wonderful opportunity to observe this vast country from the air.

Depart from Windhoek by air and enjoy awe-inspiring views of the mountains and the desert floor. Spend two nights exploring the Sossusvlei region, staying in the Kulala Wilderness Reserve, which provides convenient access to the splendour of the towering red dunes of the Namib. Activities at Little Kulala start with morning guided game drives to the spectacular dunes of Sossusvlei and include a visit to the fascinating Sesriem Canyon, scenic sundowners and hot air balloon excursions (at extra cost; weather dependent).

DAYS 3 & 4: DAMARALAND CAMP – TORRA CONSERVANCY, DAMARALAND

Leaving the sandy dunes we make our way to the next destination with a scenic flight over the Namib Desert for a different perspective of the “dune sea” – including the possibility of seeing shipwreck remains plus an old mining camp. After flying along a section of coastline to Swakopmund where we land for refuelling, we head inland to the flat-topped mountains and fascinating riverbeds of northern Damaraland for two nights at Damaraland Camp. Damaraland Camp is famous for its diverse compliment of desert-adapted wildlife, especially elephant, and its highly successful partnership with the local Torra community.

DAYS 5 & 6: ONGAVA TENTED CAMP OR ONGAVA LODGE – ONGAVA GAME RESERVE, ETOSHA

Continue to Ongava Game Reserve on your scheduled air transfer by light aircraft. The flight reveals the considerable contrast of the stark and rocky scenery of Damaraland and the Kaokoveld and the richer woodland areas and grassy plains of wildlife-rich Ongava and Etosha. Stay for two nights at either Ongava Tented Camp or Ongava Lodge. Intimate Ongava Tented Camp is hidden in the west of the Reserve and overlooks a waterhole to which a plethora of wildlife congregate to drink. Ongava Lodge is scenically nestled around a rocky outcrop and overlooks the vast plains beyond plus a productive waterhole that is floodlit at night.
