Introduction

THE ZAMBEZI REGION

Forming the border between Zambia and Zimbabwe, the mighty Zambezi River languidly meanders its way towards the Indian Ocean for more than 2 500 kilometres. However it is the Victoria Falls that forms its most famous and breathtaking landmark – without doubt the sight and sound of splendour and magnificence. This Wonder of the Natural World is also known as “The Smoke that Thunders,” a translation of its name in the local dialect of the Kololo tribe – “Mosi-oa-Tunya” – referring to the plume of spray that sometimes leaps hundreds of feet into the air above the roaring waters.

The Zambezi itself forms the border between two countries, with the town of Victoria Falls, Zimbabwe on the one side, and Livingstone, Zambia on the other. Both serve as a departure point for a diverse range of activities and experiences.

RA-IKANE SUNSET CRUISE

Named after one of the guides that led David Livingstone to the Victoria Falls, the Ra-Ikane cruise boat has been outfitted to resemble a turn-of-the-century riverboat.
